

A diagram of a curved blade, possibly a scythe or sickle, shown in a dark gray color. The blade is curved upwards from left to right. Two labels are present: 'polychrom' is written vertically on the left side of the blade, and 'jehle' is written horizontally below the blade. A horizontal line connects the 'polychrom' label to the upper part of the blade, and a vertical line connects the 'jehle' label to the lower part of the blade. There is also a small, detached curved segment at the top right of the image.
